

while watching a third, and stores up to 80 hours of standard-def telly or 20 hours of HD. Let battle commence...

From £99, www.virginmedia.com

54 Sennheiser HD800 headphones

A grand for a pair of cans may not seem the wisest investment in these cash-strapped times. Let the sound from the HD800's specially-developed 56mm high definition ring drivers whisper seductively in your ears for a while and you could be convinced, however...

£1,000, www.sennheiser.co.uk

52 Geneva XL

It's hard to overstate the sheer, balls-out power of this joyously over-sized, high-end iPod dock. Geneva's 30-kilo, 600W sonic behemoth sounds beautiful at lower levels. Crank it up and it practically blows your head off, with room-shaking bass and outrageous volume. Also available in red and black.

£1,500, www.genevalab.com

50 DreamGEAR BC Rich Warbeast

The most threatening Guitar peripheral ever, the ominous Warbeast is a full-size replica of a real-life BC Rich six-stringer. Pick this mother on and fire up your heaviest metal: it's shredding.

£70, www.dreamgear.net

49 Samsung YP-P3

This haptic touchscreen media player is undoubtedly Samsung's star. You get a mammoth 30-hour battery life for its lush audio in multiple formats, until your eyes bleed. Bluetooth, and an FM tuner also lurk within the super-slim aluminium casing.

£TBA, www.samsung.co.uk